

ANVC Discussion Forum Overview

What is the ANVC Discussion Forum?

A quick and easy way for Members to hold private, collaborative group discussions around topics that are important to them.

How Does the Discussion Forum Work?

- Members create a user profile in the system. Members are then immediately able to participate in the Discussion Forum.
- Members select their level of engagement – whether posting their own questions, ideas or topics, responding to others or simply accessing the information posted for their own use.
- Members are notified when a new topic is posted but will not receive notifications of each reply, unless they subscribe or reply to the thread.
- Discussions are threaded, so Members can select which topics they are interested in participating.

IT'S THAT EASY!

Accessing the Discussion Forum

- ▶ Visit www.anvc.org
- Hover over Members Only
- Click on Discussion Forum
 - Note, users must be logged in to access the forum

JOIN ANVC TODAY! >

- Once logged in - users will be brought to a screen that asks to confirm their profile (this will only need to be done once)

This will bring members to the page where they can write, preview and submit their posted topic

The image is a screenshot of a web form titled "Post New Thread". At the top, it shows "Author: ATestAccount" and a "Subject:" input field. Below these is a rich text editor toolbar with icons for bold, italic, underline, list, link, unlink, image, video, quote, and smiley. Underneath the toolbar are three dropdown menus for "Font", "Size", and "Color". The main part of the form is a large text area labeled "Message:". Below the text area, there is a section for file uploads with the text "Upload a file from your computer to the server. Click 'Browse' to select the file you want to upload. Please note: file name must not contain spaces." and a "Choose File" button next to a text box containing "No file chosen". There is a checked checkbox for "Subscribe me to this thread (you will receive email messages when new messages are posted)". At the bottom, there is a "Create Poll:" section with radio buttons for "No" (selected) and "Yes". Finally, there are three buttons: "Cancel", "Post", and "Preview >".

RBrey -- Posts: 2 Joined: 9/13/2018	Posted: 9/21/2018 3:21PM   Msg. 2 of 6 We have 3 neuropsychologists in our department. We are recruiting a Chief and when that person is on-board, we will create a division of Neuropsychology within the department of Neurology. There are also several neuropsychologists in the Dept of Psychiatry. We hired our own initially to support our Comprehensive Epilepsy program as the neuropsychologists in Psychiatry were not able to support the program. Now they continue to support our Epilepsy Program but also support our Neurodegenerative Diseases Institute as well as all of our other programs in the department.
